Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer:-

I've always wanted to have a laptop, but I could never afford a good one because they cost a lot. One day I began searching online for cheap laptops, and I found used laptops that were from factories, but had been updated. I thought these laptops looked like a good idea because they would have gone through checks and tests to ensure they had no viruses or damage and were in a good working condition.

The deal looked fantastic and they were just as good as the Laptops being sold in computer shops. They had been under warranty and were being sold at half the price of the ones in the shop. Later that day, I made the decision that I would get a laptop from a factory shop using my Internet account. I received an e-mail saying that I had bought the item and it would arrive on the 22nd of May.

On 21st of May, I went to check my post office box. Inside I found a Large brown parcel and immediately knew that the only thing it could be was the laptop. When I finally opened the parcel and looked at the Laptop, it was everything I had ever wanted. Everything was in perfect working condition.

I have had the laptop for about a year now and I am using it perfectly. I have all the applications I need, including word processing, Excel, and PowerPoint. However, I couldn't connect the laptop to the wireless network because Bluetooth software was not installed. Actually, the laptop has been a good bargain.

Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer:-

Parents are the most important models for raising children; in fact the first influences on them. First, the parents usually are the earliest human contact the child has in the world around him. They are the most enduring models because of their being present longer than one else. In the eyes of the child, parents are by far the most powerful people. They influence the child through nurturing him and providing his needs. In a word, his survival almost solely depends on them. Undoubtedly then, the child Looks up to these prime models for the development of his character. Perhaps this explains some of the traditional sayings which suggest that the child takes after the parents.

Take the expression, "a chip off the old block", for instance, which is often used to confirm the close similarity between the behaviour of the child and his parents'. It stands to reason that the child naturally picks up his traits, whether good or bad, from his parents. Although the child's parents are his earliest and most important models, he is exposed to many other potent influences: siblings, television, school, celebrities and so on. The walls of boys' rooms, for example, are often covered with the pictures of their idols. But do your children emulate the behaviour of everyone? It is known that they do not imitate all the people they know in equal degrees. It is therefore important to understand the variables that determine the extent to which the child takes up the attributes and behaviour displayed by his models.
